Frequently Asked Questions

Why Burleson Collegiate High School?

Burleson Collegiate High School is an advanced academic environment that provides motivated students the opportunity to earn a high school diploma as well as an Associate Degree, or up to 60 college hours from an accredited community college.

Who is eligible to apply to Burleson Collegiate High School?

All 8th grade students have access to the program; however, the BCHS core mission is to give prospective first-generation and other typically underrepresented students in higher education a no-cost solution to earning a two-year degree with transfer eligibility to a four year college/university.

Can students outside of Burleson ISD attend BCHS?

Students must reside in the BISD attendance area.

How do I apply?

Applications are available online and through middle school campuses. Students and parents must complete all parts of the application as well as attend interviews.

Who will teach the classes at BCHS?

BCHS teachers who teach high school courses will be employed by BISD. College instructors providing dual credit courses are employed by the college.

How many college hours will a student take?

Freshmen are expected to take one college course. Sophomores may take up to two college courses per semester. By the junior and senior year, most BCHS students will take up to 12 hours of college coursework in a semester. The goal is to graduate with an Associate degree by high school graduation to transition to a four year college or university.

Will college credits transfer to any college or university?

College credit will transfer to any Texas public university. Students interested in other institutes of higher education should check with them regarding their credit transfer policies.
